(2) Reasons for the revision of financial forecast

In addition to precious metal prices trending above forecasts, in the precious metal recycling business, a stable volume of precious metal collection has been realized. In the precious metal refining business in North America, the increase in product processing, sales, and financial transactions led to operating profit and profit before tax that are expected to exceed the previously announced forecasts.

Additionally, following the introduction of a consolidated taxation system and organizational restructuring of the Group as well as a detailed evaluation of the recoverability of deferred tax assets for tax losses carried forward, we decided to record deferred tax assets. As a result, in the fourth quarter of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2021, we expect to record income taxes-deferred (profit) of 8,200 million yen and to see a large increase in profit attributable to owners of parent.

2. Revision of Dividend Forecast

(1) Revision of dividend forecast for the year ending March 31, 2021

	Annual Dividend
	End of second quarter	End of FY	Total
Previous forecast (Announced on July 29, 2020)	80 yen	80 yen	160 yen
Revised forecast		90 yen	170 yen
Results for the current FY	80 yen
Results for the previous FY (FY ended March 31, 2020)	60 yen	70 yen	130 yen

(Note) As described in the “Notice on Stock Split, Partial Amendment of Articles of Incorporation, and Abolishment of Shareholder Special Benefit Plan,” separately made public today, the Company plans to institute a 2-for-1 stock split for common shares which will become effective on April 1, 2021. The year-end dividend for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2021, which has the record date of March 31, 2021, will be based on the number of shares prior to the stock split.

(2) Reasons for the revision of dividend forecast

In our current revisions to the financial forecast for the fiscal year, revenue, operating profit, profit before tax, and profit attributable to owners of parent all recorded all-time highs. Based on this decision, the Company plans to increase its dividend payment at the end of fiscal year by 10 yen from 80 yen in the previous forecast, and the total annual dividend of the year is planned to be 170 yen.

The above forecasts have been prepared based on the information available at the time of issuance of this announcement. Actual results may differ from the aforementioned forecasts due to a variety of factors including domestic and international industrial activities, financial trends, transition of precious metal prices and others, which are affected by the spread of COVID-19 infections.
