The corporate governance of en Japan Inc. (the “Company”) is described below.

I. Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic Views - Updated

At en Japan, our goal is to contribute to our shareholders, clients, many stakeholders, and society at large through our business. We have therefore positioned building an organization that can respond to changes in the management environment as an important policy for the group as a whole. We are therefore working to strengthen corporate governance and make it robust to enable healthy growth of our corporate group, and are working to create a fair management system.

We think that ensuring even stronger ethical values and integrity among our officers and employees is the basic premise upon which earning the true trust of our many stakeholders is built. We will continue to work on building an even stronger system of internal management through thorough education on compliance and other means. We will ensure sound management by making sure that this system functions properly.

[Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code] - Updated

[Supplementary Principle 4.8]

The Company has appointed one independent outside director. The outside director Taisuke Igaki satisfies all the requirements of an independent officer as stipulated in Article 436.2 of the securities listing regulations of the Tokyo Stock Exchange. Therefore, we have determined that there is no risk of a conflict of interest arising between the candidate and general shareholders. Nevertheless, we have not designated him as an independent officer or made a notification of such in accordance with the policy of the law firm to which the candidate belongs.

[Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code] - Updated

[Principle 1.4]

The Company does not hold the shares of listed companies, in principle. However, when we do hold the shares of a listed company based on the reasonable purpose of a business alliance or other business purpose, we periodically confirm that the reason for holding the shares is still valid. We sell the shares of companies that we have determined will no longer fulfill the purpose for which they are held over the medium to long-term, as the stock price and market trends permit.

In exercising voting rights on cross-shareholdings, we make a decision on each stock based on the perspective of whether it will lead to an increase in corporate value and shareholder return from a medium to long-term perspective. We exercise especial caution in regard to resolutions that could have an adverse effect on the corporate value of the company concerned.

[Principle 1.7]

The Company has established Guidelines on Managing Transactions with Interested Parties to clarify the procedural flow for ascertaining the scope of transactions with interested parties and managing transactions appropriately. We ascertain the scope of transactions with interested parties via questionnaires that the General Affairs Division updates once a year. Any transaction with an interested party requires either approval by the Board of Directors in advance or approval based on the Rules on Ringi Proposals and Applications, depending on the importance. The Administrative office director determines the importance of transactions effected with interested parties based on ASBJ Guidance No. 13 Guidance on Accounting Standard for Related Party Disclosures, and a summary of those decisions is disclosed in the annual securities report.

[Principle 2.6]

The Company does not have a corporate pension plan. This consequently poses no risk to the financial status of the Company.

Should we decide to consider introduction of a pension plan in the future, we will allocate human resources with sufficient skills to manage it.

[Principle 3.1]

- i. The basic philosophy of the Company is to realize human growth. This means we will build a world in which even more people view working as a stage of personal growth and who enrich themselves both mentally and materially as professional fusing spirit and technique.
- ii. Our basic views on corporate governance are posted on our corporate website.
- iii. The compensation the Company pays to officers is within the scope of compensation approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders. It consists of fixed monthly wages (basic compensation). The voluntary Nomination & Compensation Committee, which consists mainly of outside officers, checks and verifies the compensation of directors. The Board of Directors then determines the compensation of directors based on the content of the report from the committee. The compensation of the Audit & Supervisory Board members is determined through discussions with the Audit & Supervisory Board. The Company has also decided to provide directors with performance-based compensation (cash bonus) in addition to basic compensation. This system is designed so that management shares the advantage of improving business performance as well as the risk of declining business performance with shareholders. We consider this to be compensation that raises the motivation of Directors to improve business performance each fiscal year and gives them the incentive to aim for a sustainable increase in corporate value. Furthermore, we are planning to introduce new performance-based stock compensation as mid- to long-term incentive compensation by 2022 upon comprehensively considering the business situation.

- iv. The Company nominates individuals for election as internal directors who are suitable to promote a highly efficient management system that can respond quickly, flexibly and accurately to changes in the business environment in addition to possessing a high degree of expertise in their fields of responsibility. The prerequisite for this is that such individuals will be able to jointly develop the corporate philosophy of the Company and then focus their efforts on a daily basis toward achieving that.

The individuals we nominate for election as outside directors are capable of independent management oversight from an objective perspective while sympathizing with the corporate philosophy of the Company without being unduly influenced by management or special interests, and possess broad insight. The individuals we nominate for election as outside audit & supervisory board members understand and possess broad insight into the roles and responsibilities that the Company must fulfill for society, without being unduly influenced by management or special interests.

We consider dismissal of directors, including outside directors, when questions arise about a director's capabilities. Such instances include when a director is deemed to have failed to fulfill the duties of due care of a good manager and to have not acted in good faith, or is deemed to not be contributing to sustained profit growth and growth in corporate value. Engaging in fraud or violation of laws and regulations or other rules will result in the dismissal of a director.

When nominating candidates for director, the Board of Directors examines such candidates based on the opinions of the voluntary Nomination & Compensation Committee, which consists mainly of outside officers, before making a decision. When nominating candidates for Audit & Supervisory Board member, the Board of Directors first solicits the opinions of the outside directors and obtains consent from the Audit & Supervisory Board, then considers the content proposed by the representative director and makes a decision.

The Board of Directors of the Company will endeavor to further improve its effectiveness.
