© Expenses increased by approximately $¥ 2.7$ billion due to changes in the scope of consolidation. Retirement benefit expenses decreased by approximately $¥ 0.3$ billion. Excluding these, actual SG&A expenses increased by approximately $¥ 4.3$ billion.
(0) While efforts to enhance business structure caused actual SG&A expenses to increase, ongoing steps to control SG&A expenses minimized this rise, contributing to substantially higher operating income.

Highlights of Operating Results at Major Subsidiaries

OBillings improved $¥ 62.8$ billion, or $13.0 \%$, year on year. In addition to the return of demand restrained during the same period a year ago by the disaster, this sharp improvement reflected strong growth in billings to Automobiles/Related products and Information/Communications industries that account for a substantial proportion of billings, and in a broad range of industries, including Distribution/Retailing and Transportation/Leisure.
OOrdinary income was $¥ 15.0$ billion, a level roughly double that of the previous fiscal year, up $¥ 7.0$ billion, or $87.8 \%$. Ordinary income and net income were both substantively higher, reflecting the significant impact of low growth in SG&A expenses relative to increased revenue.

〇Billings were slightly lower, declining $¥ 2.0$ billion, or $1.8 \%$, year on year. This was attributable to a lack of a resurgence in billings due to the relatively negligible impact of the disaster on billings in the previous fiscal year, despite growth in Government/Organization in the third quarter. Billings performance in Finance/Insurance and Hobby supplies/Sporting goods was also lackluster.

OIn contrast, ordinary income and net income were both higher, the result of gross margin improvement and efforts to control SG&A expenses.

OBillings were up $¥ 2.9$ billion, or $5.6 \%$, year on year. In addition to growth in Real estate/Housing facilities that accounts for a substantial proportion of billings, there were favorable performances in Foodstuffs and Automobiles/Related products.

OOrdinary income and net income both ended subsequently higher for the period, and net income was in the black. In addition to benefits from billings growth, this was attributable to an improved gross margin and efforts to control SG&A expenses.

Although Operating Income Could Be Lifted Higher Than Initial Estimates, No Revisions at This Time to Performance Outlook

The Company reexamined its full-year performance outlook in light of the third quarter performance and current conditions. However, because client trends for the month of March are uncertain, the Company has chosen not to revise its outlook at this time.

Although no revisions were made to estimates at this time, the current rationale for the full-year business performance outlook is detailed below.

OMacro environment:
In the current fourth quarter, Japan's advertising market may be either the same as the previous year or slightly down year on year, as a consequence of significant growth in this market in the fourth quarter of the previous fiscal year.

OCautious outlook for year-on-year change in fourth quarter billings:
The current conditions of Japan's advertising market are as have been described, and the Company' s outlook for year-on-year change in fourth quarter billings is cautious because the Hakuhodo DY Group' s billings grew significantly in last year' s fourth quarter mainly in such industry sectors as Automobiles/Related products and Beverages/Cigarettes/Luxury foods.

OThe likelihood of operating income exceeding the past record of $¥ 25.0$ billion is high:
In addition to billings expansion, gross margin improvement and control of SG&A expenses have raised the likelihood of operating income exceeding the past record of $¥ 25.0$ billion achieved in the fiscal year ended March 2008.

Harness Advertising Market Recovery to Aim for $¥ 23.5$ Billion in Operating Income

OMacro environment: Japan's advertising market will likely be supported by economic recovery and a rebound in corporate business performance, along with a push mainly from demand related to recovery efforts and other factors counteracting the March 11, 2011 disaster. Although many causes for concern beyond the European debt crisis and the yen' s appreciation persist, firm advertising market performance is expected to result in year-on-year growth for the full term.
© Billings: $¥ 1037.0$ billion, up $6.0 \%$ year on year
The Group aims to grow above the market average through steady enactment of the strategic initiatives outlined in its Medium-term Business Plan and by expanding its market share. First-half billings are projected to rise a substantial 10.4\% year on year, mainly reflecting the absence of the Great East Japan Earthquake' s impact during the same period a year earlier.
O Revenue: $¥ 172.5$ billion, up $7.3 \%$ year on year
Recognizing that profits will accompany billings expansion, the Group will take steps to raise its already high gross margin even further.
© SG&A expenses: $¥ 140.9$ billion, up $5.7 \%$ year on year.
The Group will seek to improve its operating margin by maintaining the structure it has built to control expenses and holding the rate of growth in expenses to below that of revenue. In addition to continued investment and strategic allocation of certain expenses necessary for share expansion, efforts will include remaining constantly aware of the need to enhance efficiency and consolidate expenses.
© Operating income: $¥ 23.5$ billion, up $18.6 \%$, $¥ 3.6$ billion year on year. The Group will strive to lift profit levels to meet the target of $¥ 28.0$ billion outlined in its Medium-term Business Plan.
© Net income: $¥ 11.5$ billion, up $¥ 2.8$ billion year on year.
© Dividend per share: Based on a fundamental stance of providing a stable dividend, and comprehensive evaluation of mainly a recovery trend in earnings, we plan to pay a dividend per share of $¥ 80$, up $¥ 10$ from the previous year ended March 31, 2012.
