12. Q&A Regarding the Business Integration

Q1 What is a share transfer?

A1 A share transfer is when one or two or more companies transfer all of their outstanding shares to the company which they newly establish.

In the current business integration, Aomori Bank and Michinoku Bank will jointly establish Procrea Holdings, Inc. and all the shares owned by both banks' shareholders will be transferred to Procrea Holdings, Inc.

Q2 What will happen to the shares of Aomori Bank that I own?

A2 Shareholders of Aomori Bank shall receive one common share of Procrea Holdings, Inc. per one Aomori Bank's common share.

As a result of the business integration by establishing a holding company by means of joint share transfer, after the establishment of the holding company, Aomori Bank and Michinoku bank will become wholly owned subsidiaries of the holding company.

Consequently, the banks are scheduled to be delisted from the Tokyo Stock Exchange on March 30, 2022, but the holding company is planned to be listed on April 1, 2022 alternatively.

The shares of the holding company will be automatically be allotted to the current shareholders on April 1, 2022 in accordance with the share transfer ratio. If you decide to retain the shares of the holding company, there is no special procedures required on the shareholders' side.

Please note that both banks' shares may be traded through Tokyo Stock Exchange until March 29, 2022, the day before the banks' shares will be delisted therefrom.

Q3 What will happen to the Aomori Bank's year-end dividend for the fiscal year ending in March 2021?

A3 Year-end dividend for the fiscal year ending in March 2022 is planned to be paid from Aomori Bank to the shareholders and registered pledgees of shares listed or recorded in the final register of shareholders as of March 31, 2022.

Q4 What will happen to the shareholder benefit plans?

- A4 Aomori Bank's shareholder benefits based on the record date of March 31, 2022 are planned to be implemented with the content similar to the previous fiscal year. The holding company's shareholder benefits plan shall be discussed between Aomori Bank and Michinoku Bank and announced once decided including the content thereof.

Q5 What shall I do when I have transactions such as deposits and loans with both banks?

- A5 Transactions with Aomori Bank and Michinoku Bank respectively may be continued as before even after the transition into the holding company system by means of joint share transfer. We always value your patronage greatly.

Regarding the transactions after the merger of the two banks, which is planned to happen in approximately two years after the establishment of the holding company, we aim to achieve deep understanding of our customers' needs upon evolving deep relationships with them and attempt to provide comprehensive services to our customers.
