Sumitomo Pharma Co., Ltd.

Sumitomo Pharma Announces the Combination of Group Companies in the U.S.

Sumitomo Pharma Co., Ltd. (Head Office: Osaka, Japan; Representative Director, President, and CEO: Hiroshi Nomura; Securities Code: 4506, Prime Market of TSE) announces today that it has resolved on April 3, 2023, to combine its Group companies in the U.S. (hereinafter, "the Combination"), as described below.

Because the Combination is a merger of Sumitomo Pharma's wholly owned subsidiary companies, some disclosure items and details are partially omitted in this announcement.

1. Purpose and Outline of the Combination

As part of efforts to achieve sustained growth after the loss of exclusivity for LATUDA®, one of the core products of the Sumitomo Pharma Group in the U.S., the Group will merge and combine seven of its subsidiaries in the U.S. into a single company, with Sunovion Pharmaceuticals Inc. as the remaining company:

- 1. Sunovion Pharmaceuticals Inc.
- 2. Sumitomo Pharma America Holdings, Inc.
- 3. Sumitomo Pharma Oncology, Inc.
- 4. Sumitovant Biopharma, Inc.
- 5. Myovant Sciences, Inc.
- 6. Urovant Sciences, Inc.
- 7. Enzyvant Therapeutics, Inc.

The Combination aims to improve profitability in Sumitomo Pharma's North American operations and strengthen its business foundation in the region by creating a more robust subsidiary with a strong portfolio, in terms of the scale of operations, talents and product lines, and by pursuing efficiencies, cost synergies and global governance.

To unify the corporate brand as one of the Group companies, the name of the remaining company will be changed from Sunovion Pharmaceuticals Inc. to Sumitomo Pharma America, Inc.
