ANA Finalizes Timetable for New Haneda - US Routes

Launches New Route from Haneda to Kuala Lumpur

ANA to Fly Convenient, New Daytime Service between Haneda-New York and Haneda-Chicago

TOKYO, June 29, 2016 – ANA has finalized the timetable for its flights to and from Tokyo's Haneda Airport, scheduled to begin on October 30, 2016. As announced in May, ANA will be opening new, daytime routes from Haneda to New York and Chicago. The flights will make effective use of Haneda's convenient location near the heart of the Tokyo metropolitan area, with departures from Haneda between 10:00 and 11:00 and arrival times at approximately 21:00. These schedules will enable passengers to spend more time in the US. Furthermore, ANA's flights connecting Haneda and Honolulu will continue to depart from Haneda at night, but will now arrive at Haneda approximately five hours earlier, between 17:00 and 18:00, further enhancing passenger convenience.

From October 30, ANA will also begin operating new flights between Haneda and Kuala Lumpur. By offering new service at nighttime to contrast with its existing daytime service between Narita and Kuala Lumpur, ANA is giving its passengers more choices for access to Kuala Lumpur from Japan.

ANA is continuously expanding its international network as part of its commitment to further improve passenger convenience and strengthen Japan's international competitiveness as a business and tourism destination.

*Note that these plans are subject to the approval of the relevant authorities. All schedules are subject to change.
