, 1

1. Summary of disposition

(Note) "Book value" refers to the estimated figures as of the end of the fiscal period ended August 2016 (the 29th period).

2. Reason for disposition

(1.	Complete the disposition of all properties that require drastic measures in order to maintain tenant continuity and substitutability as a result of the increasingly competitive environment.
	Highlights	2.	Achieve stabilization of distributions and profit maximization by disposition of suburban-type assets with future uncertainties, leveraging the current favorable real estate market condition.
		3.	Replace properties in order to further optimize our portfolio.

Since JRF acquired the Property, the surrounding environment has become competitive and is expected to further intensify due to a competing facility planned to open diagonally across from the Property, which will possibly cause the Property's profitability to decline in the future. The Property is also financially constrained with its NOI yield after depreciation being 3.4%, which is below JRF's portfolio average NOI yield after depreciation of 3.7% and an unrealized loss. Under these circumstances, JRF has determined the Property is an asset that requires drastic measures to be taken. Recently, JRF has reached the decision that the best measure is to dispose of the Property for a price higher than its book value at the optimal timing while the real estate market conditions are favorable.

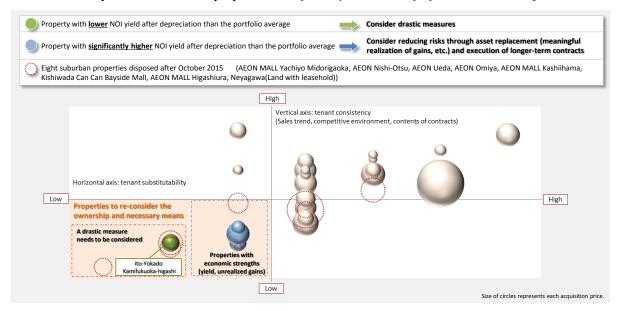

JRF, through its portfolio management, seeks to optimize the composition of its assets in line with the changes in Japan's demographics, consumption structure and behavior, and aims to increase the unitholder value by enhancing the profitability and stability of its portfolio. Under this policy, JRF is implementing its strategies of "further increase in asset size," "property replacement" and "enhancement of existing properties' value" as a measure of further growth.

This disposition will be implemented as part of the "property replacement" initiative aimed at optimizing the portfolio through the acquisition of primarily urban-type prime properties (the "Property Replacement"). The Property was determined to be an asset that requires drastic measures of suburban-type assets with risks from the viewpoint of tenant continuity and substitutability, as disclosed in "Supplemental Material on a Series of Press Releases" dated August 2, 2016 and "The 29th Period Analyst Meeting Material (March 1, 2016 – August 31, 2016)." By the decision to dispose of the Property, JRF will complete the disposal of all properties that require drastic measures. Also that the percentage of specific tenants and GMS-type assets will decline as a result this Property Replacement and other property replacement initiatives implemented in the past.

Part of the proceeds from the disposition of the Property will be used to fund the acquisition of G-Bldg. Tenjin Nishi-dori 01, as announced in the "Notice Concerning Acquisition of Trust Beneficiary Interest in G-Bldg. Tenjin Nishi-dori 01" as of January 23, 2017 (acquisition price of 4,850 million yen and NOI yield after depreciation of 3.7%). The remaining proceeds will be used primarily to fund the acquisition of urban-type prime properties, which is part of the property replacement initiative aimed at increasing the unitholder value.

Portfolio analysis of 39 suburban properties^(Note) (primarily the suburban properties leased to a single tenant)

(Note) "39 suburban properties" refer to 30 suburban commercial properties (other than large-sized shopping malls) leased to a single tenant, held by JRF as of today, 8 properties disposed since October 2015 and the Property.

Portfolio development

- (Note 1) "GMS type" in the chart above refers to a shopping center that has a GMS as the anchor tenant in addition to other specialty store tenants. GMS stands for General Merchandise Stores, which are large-scale supermarkets that sell a wide variety of daily-needs products.
- (Note 2) "AEON ML" in the chart above refers to the total annual rent of AEON Retail, AEON MALL, AEON Kyushu, AEON Ryukyu and AEON TOWN, which are master-lease tenants, expressed as a percentage of the total annual rent of all of the properties in our portfolio.
- (Note 3) "Ito-Yokado ML" in the chart above refers to the total annual rent of Ito-Yokado, which is a master-lease tenant, expressed as a percentage of the total annual rent of all of the properties in our portfolio.

3. Future outlook

The impact of the disposition of the Property on our forecasts for the fiscal periods ending February 2017 and August 2017 is minimal. As a result, the forecasts will not be revised.
