Message from the President

I am deeply grateful for the support we have received from all our shareholders.

In the fiscal year 2017, the year ended March 31, 2017, revenue of the DENSO Group increased to ¥4,527.1 billion and operating profit increased to ¥330.6 billion due to the marginal advantage from improved capacity utilization owing to increased sales, the rationalization effects and the improvement of other income and expenses despite the adverse impact of yen appreciation.

The business environment surrounding the Company is changing considerably, entering an era of significant changes throughout society. To overcome such turbulent times and achieve sustainable growth, we need to increase the number of value-sharing peers to address various issues hand in hand. To this end, DENSO CORPORATION has established “Crafting the Core” as its slogan, which is based on the unchanging DENSO Philosophy and expresses the vision and direction the Company is striving to achieve. “Crafting the Core” encompasses the desire at DENSO to “Creating things that are important to people with great care and continuously refining them.”

We hope to contribute to the creation of such a better society in the future while gaining the confidence and sympathy of all of our stakeholders.

I sincerely appreciate the ongoing support of all our shareholders.

May 2017

BUSINESS REPORT

(From April 1, 2016, to March 31, 2017)

1. CURRENT SITUATION OF THE DENSO GROUP

(1) Process and Results of Operations of Our Group

1) Business environment

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017, whereas uncertainty increased, reflecting political trends in Europe and the presidential election in the United States, in the second half of the fiscal year under review, the world economy showed gradual growth on the whole, sustained by increasing expectations relative to the new administration in the United States and a rally among the economies of emerging countries due to a recovery in natural resource prices. The Japanese economy also continued a gradual recovery despite some weakness in personal consumption and other factors.

The global automobile industry performed steadily, mainly due to record-high sales in the United States and favorable sales in China attributable to tax-cut policies for small vehicles. In Japan, sales improved for the first time in three years due to favorable sales of new model vehicles despite a continuing slump in sales of light vehicles.

2) Summary of business

In such a business climate, we are making concerted efforts group-wide to achieve the targets of the DENSO Group Long-term Policy 2020: “Preserve the Planet” and “Security & Safety”

In the environment field, during the fiscal year under review, we established the Electrification Systems Business Group to accelerate the reinforced development and business growth of the electrification field. In the safety and security field, we addressed challenging tasks for technological development related to the Advanced Driver Assistance System (ADAS)/Automated Driving (AD). At the same time, to accelerate such technological development, the Company enhanced collaborations with outside partners.

3) Operating results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017

During the fiscal year under review, revenue of the Group increased ¥2.6 billion, or 0.1%, year over year, to ¥4,527.1 billion, supported by increases in vehicle production volume and sales expansion despite the effect of yen appreciation. Operating profit increased ¥14.8 billion, or 4.7%, to ¥330.6 billion due to the marginal advantage from improved capacity utilization owing to increased sales, the rationalization effects and the improvement of other income and expenses despite the adverse impact of yen appreciation. Profit attributable to owners of the parent company increased ¥13.4 billion, or 5.5%, to ¥257.6 billion.

(5) Our Challenge for Future Success and Initiative toward Future Growth

Under the slogan of “Protecting Lives, Preserving the Planet, and Preparing a Bright Future for Generations to Come” advocated in the DENSO Group Long-term Policy 2020, the Company aims to balance growth by sustaining the global environment and achieve a society where each and every one of us can live in peace, safety and happiness.

Looking at society, vehicle ownership continues to grow and that is bringing the joy of freedom of mobility to a broadening segment of the population. On the other hand, there are many problems to be resolved such as increasing amount of emissions of greenhouse gases and number of traffic accidents. Given such circumstances, we are committed to fulfilling our mission of contributing to minimizing the shortcomings such as greenhouse gases emissions and traffic accidents while maximizing the benefits of motor transport.

The automobile industry is entering an era of once-in-a-century innovation. Industrial paradigms such as electrification, autonomous driving (AD), “connected (connectivity)” and car sharing are greatly changing. We therefore intend to anticipate and respond to customers’ and societal needs ahead of others to enhance our contribution to society.

Given the radically changing business environment, to realize the aforementioned Long-term Policy, it is necessary for us to respond to electrification of more environment-friendly automobiles, sophisticate functions involved in safety and security of vehicles, provide new services that connect vehicles and society, and enhance our monozukuri capability. To this end, we especially focus on the following fields.

<Major Fields of Focus>

1. Electrification (hybrid and electric vehicles)
2. Advanced Driver Assistance System (ADAS)/Autonomous Driving (AD)
3. Connected (connected car)
4. Monozukuri: Factory-IoT
5. FA (Factory automation) Business

1. Electrification (hybrid and electric vehicles)

Initiatives toward Future Growth

The Company creates environment-friendly, electrified vehicle systems to ensure the comfortable travel of drivers and passengers through optimal management of various energies inside vehicles.

Acceleration of reinforcement of product and business development in the electrification field

— Electrification Systems Business Group has been established —

The Company has developed and provided diverse products in the past two decades that boast top-rated performance, quality and production volume for hybrid vehicles. Moreover, to accelerate the reinforcement of product and business development in the electrification field covering hybrid and electric vehicles, the Company established the Electrification Systems Business Group during the fiscal year.

In addition to further refining its long-accumulated electrified-product related technologies, the Group will work to radically improve fuel efficiency and preserve electric power by recovering and/or recycling energies that would be generated inside the vehicle from the vehicle's kinetic, electric energies or heat generation, and by connecting all systems and products equipped inside the vehicles. Furthermore, we will achieve energy management of the highest efficiency for a whole vehicle by anticipating the road environment via collaboration with information outside the car and/or using algorithm to draw out the best performance of electrified products.

The Company will endeavor to propose the smart electrified vehicle systems as well as develop and provide the components of such systems.

Initiatives toward Future Growth

The Company promotes various developments as a leading company in AD technology to achieve a society with new mobility where all can travel safely and securely. The AD technology has the elements of “perception, decision and control.” To ensure appropriate decision and control, it is first required for the systems to achieve perception that corresponds to that of the human eye at a highly reliable level. The Company has specifically focused on the function of perception and has commercialized excellent sensors including millimeter-wave radar, image sensors (cameras), LIDAR and sonars to monitor the driving environment by leveraging the Company’s sensing technologies long accumulated in the onboard device field. These products have been adopted by many automobile manufacturers.

Research and development reflecting the road and traffic environments of each country
— Driving tests on public roads have been conducted —

See the related pages here. ↓

In addition, to establish AD technology that is applicable throughout the world, the Company has promoted R&D reflecting the specific road and traffic environments of respective countries. In Japan, the driving tests for AD technology on public roads started in 2014. Meanwhile, to pursue enhanced R&D activities compliant with the traffic environment unique to North America where highways are used daily, driving tests on public roads have also been conducted.

Moreover, to accelerate the development of AD technology, the Company has enhanced collaborations with outside partners including automobile manufacturers and municipalities. In 2015, the Company entered into a basic agreement with the Singapore Government to conduct joint research regarding the development of AD technology with the Singapore’s Agency for Science, Technology and Research as part of the government-led Smart City initiatives. Going forward, we will accelerate development by promoting to form global partnerships including alliance projects.

Initiatives toward Future Growth

In the future, the development of a mobility society, where cars are connected to each other and to people, roads, things and services, etc. will lead to a more environment-friendly, safer and secure society. The Company intends to create new value in the mobility society starting with initiatives in commercial vehicles such as buses and trucks.

Accelerating activities for the transportation and passenger businesses by establishing a new organization to promote connected services

— Connected Service Business Promotion Division has been established —

Although the number of commercial vehicles such as trucks and buses is about no greater than one-tenth of that of passenger vehicles, the environmental burden and traffic accidents attributable to commercial vehicles account for almost one-third of the respective totals. Higher CO₂ emissions due to large-scale car bodies and longer travel distance compared with passenger vehicles are mentioned as the major factors.

The Company has been developing and providing systems and equipment related to driving control and safety management for the transportation and passenger businesses to reduce the negative impact on the environment and safety that commercial vehicles have on our society.

Recently, to pioneer and promote new service business such as total safety improvement systems including the provision of information not only of vehicles but also of drivers' physical condition, the Company established the Connected Service Business Promotion Division. The Division intends to expand its business centering on the transportation and passenger businesses by consolidating the internal resources associated with connected services and systematically promoting diverse activities from planning and development to marketing.

Initiatives toward Future Growth

The Company globally promotes making factories that bring out human wisdom and continue to evolve by introducing the Factory-IoT systems.

Realizing an ever-evolving monozukuri with Factory-IoT utilizing human wisdom

— Introduction of the Factory-IoT systems has started at domestic and overseas factories —

See the related pages here. ↓

Factory-IoT will enable us to visualize diverse information and feed them back to people, thereby enhancing human sensitivity and leading to Kaizen (continuous improvement). Such information includes “subtle and imperceptible changes in products and facilities such as vibration, sound and temperature,” “wisdom, experience, intuition and knack of experts” and “foreseeing and noticing signs of failures of facilities and equipment.” Based on the visualized and shared information, people with a long-inherited monozukuri spirit and flexible behavioral skills can dramatically enhance onsite capabilities through further improvement and introduction of preventive measures by putting their heads together.

Moreover, we believe that connecting improved factories helps to enhance global productivity. We intend to realize ever-evolving monozukuri by sharing and integrating the information of facilities and production at the respective factories and of Kaizen on a real-time basis throughout the world, as if we were all under one roof, leading to a swift improvement cycle at the respective factories.

By 2020, the Company will have our 130 factories worldwide digitally connected following the introduction of the Factory-IoT systems which started in 2015, thereby aiming to achieve improvement in productivity of the entire DENSO Group by 30% (compared with 2015). This initiative will also be extended to cooperative companies by 2020 to jointly strengthen our monozukuri capability.

Initiatives toward Future Growth

The Company intends to contribute to productivity improvement in society and industries with proposals and through the provision of optimum FA system solutions to customers by leveraging our successful introduction of factory automation (FA) systems at our 130 factories globally.

Contributing to the improvement of productivity in society and industries by taking advantage of FA systems utilizing our comprehensive knowledge on monozukuri
— FA Business Unit has been established —

The FA market continues to expand year by year, reflecting such phenomena as changes in the social structure represented by a decline in the workforce and the evolution of robot technology attributable to technological innovations in AI and IoT.

The Company started the development of its own robots almost 50 years ago in 1967. Since then, the Company has provided more than 90 thousand robots refined in its in-house production lines through direct sales. Robots are indispensable for FA operations, and they continue to evolve in diverse aspects, for example, the ease of installation in production lines; ease of use in daily production and in maintenance; and the addition of human wisdom-based intelligence utilizing AI and IoT technologies besides conventional strengths such as high speed and high reliability.

Furthermore, FA has extensive application to broader fields including not only manufacturing but also inspection, logistics, maintenance, production control and utilization of IoT. Recently, we newly established the FA Business Unit under the Production Innovation Center in charge of driving company-wide monozukuri. With this, we intend to make proposals and provide FA systems that will respond to all customer needs from the viewpoint of overall factory and life cycle by leveraging our successful introduction of factory-IoT systems at our 130 factories, thereby increasing overall productivity.

Aspiring to be a company that continues to earn society's trust and sympathy

Various initiatives executed to motivate each employee to play an active role and raise organizational strength

<Development and recruitment of diverse human resources and formation of teams that can play active roles>

The Company is committed to creating a good relationship among the employees and making good teams through the development and employment of diverse human resources regardless of gender, age, nationality, disability and career history.

For example, to provide opportunities for mutual exchanges of knowledge among colleagues across the globe, the Company holds regional committees as a venue for local employees to discuss regional strategies in North America, Europe and other regions with managerial executives. The Company also holds global conferences every year to discuss challenges and directions in global management by gathering the worldwide leaders together at the DENSO head office.

Moreover, the Company emphasizes recruitment and creating business partners in new fields. In this context, the Company has entered into a technical advisory contract with one of the world's foremost researchers in computer vision and robotics, Carnegie Mellon University Professor Kanade, and expanded the Tokyo Office (Nihonbashi) and the Silicon Valley Office (the United States) to provide the environment where diversified human resources can work together.

The Company was selected as one of the "New Diversity Management Selection 100 companies" in March 2016 in recognition of its initiatives supporting female employees' activities, with the core policies of recruiting more female employees and supporting their career development, as well as a longtime and positive approach to the employment of persons with disabilities. The Company intends to promote such initiatives to support diverse personnel to play active roles.

<Initiatives for work style reforms>

In April 2017, the Company established the Work Style Reform Department with the aim of strengthening the corporate culture that ensures continuing innovations through the joint efforts of a diverse group of employees by maximizing both individual and organizational strengths and realizing a workplace where every employee can play an active role.

We believe that the most important challenge on this issue lies in reform of awareness including that of management and executives. We therefore intend to address such tasks as a revision of personnel systems to encourage further growth and actions by enhanced individual capabilities, the introduction of ever-evolving IT tools and the radical improvement of operating processes that will lead to higher-quality operations and reduce working hours. The Company thus will continue to create new value in its culture where every employee can work healthy and energetically with hearty communication.

Pursuant to the fourth paragraph of Article 444 of the Companies Act, we have audited the consolidated financial statements, namely, the consolidated statement of financial position as of March 31, 2017, of DENSO CORPORATION (the "Company") and consolidated subsidiaries, and the related consolidated statements of income and changes in equity for the fiscal year from April 1, 2016 to March 31, 2017, and the related notes.

Management's Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan, prepared with the omission of a part of the disclosure required under International Financial Reporting Standards pursuant to the provisions of the second sentence of the first paragraph of Article 120 of the Ordinance on Company Accounting, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Audit Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above, prepared with the omission of a part of the disclosure required under International Financial Reporting Standards pursuant to the provisions of the second sentence of the first paragraph of Article 120 of the Ordinance on Company Accounting, present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Corporate Group consisting of DENSO CORPORATION and its consolidated subsidiaries as of March 31, 2017, and the results of their operations for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan.

Interest

Our firm and the engagement partners do not have any interest in the Company for which disclosure is required under the provisions of the Certified Public Accountants Act.

Guide to the Company’s Web site

To introduce DENSO’s initiatives to our shareholders and investors, we are active in information disclosure through the Web site below.

DENSO Site “INVESTORS”

DENSO Q&A

Q1. Given the radically changing business environment, the Company is reinforcing cooperation with external partners via measures including joint development, investment and business collaboration. What are the details of this reinforced cooperation?

A1. The automobile industry is entering an era of once-in-a-century innovation. Given the radically changing business environment, we will proactively establish cooperative relationships with external partners who share a common vision or purpose with us and accelerate such collaboration to leverage mutual strengths without adhering to a conventional self-procurement style.

“Obtaining necessary resources and/or technologies” is a short- to medium-term purpose, whereas “seeking potential technologies and new business models” is a medium- to long-term goal.

We are actively making investments in venture companies engaged in the development of leading-edge technologies and/or the creation of new business models, in addition to promoting collaborations on a variety of themes with corporations that have original strengths in different fields.

We will continue to promote aggressive collaborations with vision-sharing partners.

Q2. Tell us about DENSO’s initiatives for monozukuri.

A2. The Company has long been committed to self-designing and self-manufacturing equipment and production lines, which has allowed us to become the world’s top-rated company for fine machining and processing.

Moreover, we endeavor to construct “DANTOTSU” factories as the bases for monozukuri to manufacture products at low cost by implementing such measures as speeding up and improving the utilization rate of production lines, developing compact and original equipment, and streamlining the processes for logistics and inspection.

One-minute initial setup for die-casting dies

For the construction of “DANTOTSU” factories, the onsite capability to upgrade workers’ processing or handling level through onsite improvements is indispensable, in addition to the development of compact equipment and/or devices. The photo shows a situation whereby a female worker engages in the initial setup of die-casting dies in only one minute. Usually, the initial setup of dies using ordinary die-casting equipment requires 30 minutes for a qualified worker by manipulating a whist crane. Onsite workers collaborated to improve their work process and ensure safe operations for anybody by adhering to an approach of “one movement per second.” As a result, we realized the initial setup of die-casting dies in one minute, thereby enabling the production of conforming items from the processing of the first item cast.

Q3. It seems that the Company changed its management structure recently. Tell us about that.

A3. The Company changed its management structure as of April 1, 2017, with the aim of streamlining decision making and execution to precede the radical changes in the business environment.

The Company created a separation between management and execution of duties; reduced the number of board members to speed up execution and helped engaging companywide strategy discussions at the Board of Directors meetings; and determined to include only outside board members, representative directors, and executives who are in charge of the Corporate Center responsible for management functions. In addition, the Company will change the timing of reelection for management officers to April, that is, at the transition to a new fiscal year, to streamline and clarify their respective execution responsibility, effective from fiscal 2017; they were previously reelected on the date of the ordinary general meeting of shareholders.

Furthermore, the Company has introduced a new executive position, “Executive fellow,” to lead specialized fields with their highly advanced expertise and provide new value to society based on DENSO’s policy that “Human resources having highly advanced expertise are sources of the company’s competitiveness.”

Q4. Tell us about the Company’s initiatives in sports.

A4. Company-sponsored sports play a significant role in creating a sense of unity among employees. The Company aims to create such a sense of unity by providing bright topics internally and externally through the support and fostering of promising young athletes in Japan, including such sports as female volleyball, basketball, softball and long-distance running.

DENSO BRIGHT PEGASUS
DENSO FLEET SEROWS

Q5. We have heard that the Company emphasizes social contribution activities. Tell us about some specific initiatives.

A5. The Company strives to be an admired company in each community where it operates by undertaking social contribution activities in key areas to help resolve local issues. Priority areas are “Harmony with the environment,” “Ensuring security and safety in communities” and “hitozukuri (human resource development).” In the hitozukuri field, for example, since 2011 we have held the “DENSO Science School” where current and retired DENSO employees visit elementary schools as assistant lecturers to teach science lessons.

We also have held a global group-wide initiative for more than 10 years. The employees of the Group companies worldwide have continued to voluntarily join in diverse social actions by setting their own “Community Service Day” on a date appropriate to the respective regions. This initiative is intended to make our Group companies trusted and respected by local residents through human exchanges with local communities to create better relations.

Furthermore, we started the DENSO Pro Bono Program in June 2016 to help NPOs reinforce their activity bases and/or start up their businesses by leveraging DENSO employees’ skills nurtured through their daily work.

This program aims to support NPO problem-solving activities for issues that local communities have by taking advantage of the business skills and experience of individual employees.

The Company previously has supported various civic activity groups with financial and commodity donations. We will extend the scope of our social contributions by championing the new tide of human-based support of civic activity groups as a company.
