Domestic Sales

The Japanese economy enjoyed continued recovery backed by improvement in employment and robust exports. Although domestic net sales edged down 2.1% year on year to ¥16,168 million, orders received during the first six months of the fiscal year were solid and in excess of orders received during the same period of the previous fiscal year. In addition, Komori participated in the IGAS 2018 International Graphic Arts Show held in July 2018 at Tokyo Big Sight. At the event, the Company exhibited a total of ten printing presses and peripheral equipment connected via KP-Connect, a cloud-based solution that makes it easier to check the status of printing processes and helps promote automated printing operations. Aiming to secure orders from the attendees, Komori thus demonstrated its solutions aimed at creating a smart factory through the transmission of job data and consolidated management of each printing process.

North America

In North America, continuous improvement in employment and robust personal consumption backed by an income tax cut helped the economy grow steadily. However, despite year-on-year growth in sales of consumable supplies and maintenance services, net sales in this region were down 31.3% year on year to \(\frac{\text{\frac{4}}}{2,971}\) million, with printing companies taking a cautious approach to investment in offset printing presses, reflecting an ongoing trend toward digital investment.

(English translation of "KESSAN TANSHIN" originally issued in Japanese.)

Europe

European economies remained robust, backed by strong domestic demand. However, demand for printing machinery was stagnant. This was due in part to recoil from significant sales growth in the second quarter of the previous fiscal year resulting from tax benefit policies executed in France to facilitate capital expenditure. Moreover, a sense of uncertainty over the Brexit negotiations negatively affected demand for printing machinery. Consequently, net sales in this region decreased 5.2% compared with the same period of the previous fiscal year to ¥7,170 million.

Greater China

In Greater China, burgeoning personal consumption backed by improving employment conditions supported gradual economic growth, despite the negative impact of U.S.-China trade tension, which dampened the pace of economic growth. Moreover, Komori benefited from steadily firm demand for facility upgrades among printing companies, with some planning factory relocations aimed at securing responsiveness to environmental regulations and others seeking solutions that realize high-value-added printing services and labor-saving operations. Consequently, net sales in this region increased 74.0% year on year to ¥8,751 million.

Other Regions

In Other Regions, the Indian economy saw signs of recovery after having returned to normal following the disorder caused by the withdrawal of high denomination currency in November 2016 and the introduction of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) in July 2017. Also, ASEAN countries continued to enjoy overall economic growth. On the other hand, gradual increases in U.S. interest rates triggered the depreciation of currencies in emerging nations, which, in turn, negatively affected Komori's business performance. Furthermore, six-month sales were down year on year as only a handful currency printing press supply projects came up for bidding in the previous fiscal year. As a result, net sales in Other Regions decreased 44.7% compared with the same period of the previous fiscal year to ¥5,163 million.

Turning to expenses, the cost of sales ratio declined year on year due to such factors as changes in sales by product category. The ratio of selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expenses to net sales was up year on year due mainly to growth in corporate spending on advertising and personnel expenses. As a result, the Company posted operating loss of ¥258 million for the first six months of the fiscal year under review, compared with operating income of ¥436 million in the same period of the previous fiscal year.

The Company posted ordinary income totaling ¥95 million, compared with ordinary income of ¥1,270 million in the same period of the previous fiscal year. This was due in part to a significant decrease in foreign exchange gains from ¥614 million recorded in the same period of the previous fiscal year to ¥183 million recorded in the first six months of the fiscal year under review.

For the first six months of the fiscal year under review, the Company recorded income before income taxes totaling ¥66 million, a decrease from income before income taxes totaling ¥1,121 million posted in the same period of the previous fiscal year, despite the absence of retirement benefit expenses of ¥170 million recorded in the first half of the previous fiscal year in connection with revisions to retirement benefit systems at a domestic manufacturing subsidiary. Reflecting these factors, Komori posted a net loss attributable to owners of the parent totaling ¥150 million, compared with net income attributable to owners of the parent totaling ¥1,102 million in the same period of the previous fiscal year.
