The corporate governance of Kenedix, Inc. ("Kenedix" or the "Company") is described below.

I. Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Profile and Other Basic Information

1. Basic Views

To ensure its sustainable growth and increased corporate value over the medium to long term by creating value from real estate, Kenedix has configured its corporate governance to strike an appropriate balance between independence and autonomy ("offensive" and "defensive" functions) and a strong sense of ethics. Kenedix accords one of its highest management priorities to employing an appropriate management system and a thorough internal control system, making positive and decisive management decisions based on appropriate processes, and ensuring their accountability.

Kenedix has established Corporate Governance Guidelines (the "Guidelines") in association with the basic views on corporate governance and posted these guidelines on its website (<http://www.kenedix.com/eng/company/governance.html>).

[Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code]

The Company implements each principle of the Corporate Governance Code.

[Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code]

[Principle 1.4 Cross-shareholdings]

Each year, the Board of Directors verifies the effects of holding cross-shareholdings and their economic rationale and considers whether to continue or reduce cross-shareholdings. With regard to the exercise of voting rights, the Company judges whether to vote in favor of each proposal after gathering sufficient information, including through dialogue with the investee company, and giving consideration to those proposals.

Please refer to Article 20 Policy on Cross-Shareholdings of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 1.7 Related-Party Transactions]

The Company has formulated "Related-party Transaction Rules." Related-party transactions are deliberated for such aspects as appropriateness and fairness by the Business Compliance Committee, composed of outside committee members who have no conflicts of interest with items that are to be deliberated or resolved. In addition, each quarter the content of such transactions is reported to the Board of Directors, which ensures the appropriate operations. In particular, transactions with a specified degree of importance, such as transactions with directors, are deliberated by the Board of Directors and, as necessary, disclosed appropriately.

Please refer to Article 17 System for Managing Related-Party Transactions of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 2-6 Roles of Corporate Pension Fund as Asset Owner]

The Company does not manage corporate pension funds.

[Principle 3.1 (i) Company Objectives (e.g., business principles), Business Strategies and Business Plans]

Please refer to the Mission Statement, Corporate Mission, Long-term Vision, and Article 16 Status of Information Disclosure of the Guidelines. Please refer to the Medium-term Management Plan on the Kenedix's website (<http://www.kenedix.com/eng/company/mission.html>).

[Principle 3.1 (ii) Basic Stance and Basic Policy on Corporate Governance]

Please refer to Article 2 Basic Views on Corporate Governance and Article 3 The Company's Approach to the Corporate Governance System of the Guidelines.

[Principle 3.1 (iii) Policies and Procedures in Determining the Remuneration of the Senior Management and Directors by the Board of Directors]

The Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee, which has been established as an optional committee chaired by an outside director, deliberates remuneration and final decisions are made by the Board of Directors.

Please refer to Article 8 Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committees and Article 11 Remuneration of Directors and Corporate Auditors of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 3.1 (iv) Policies and Procedures in Appointments/Dismissals of the Senior Management and Nominations of Candidates for Directors by the Board of Directors]

The Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee, which has been established as an optional committee chaired by an outside director, deliberates appointments and nominations, and final decisions are made by the Board of Directors.

Please refer to Article 8 Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committees, Article 9 Qualification for Directors and Nomination/Dismissal Procedures, and Article 10 Qualification for Corporate Auditors and Nomination/Dismissal Procedures of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 3.1 (v) Explanations over Each Individual Appointment/Dismissal and Nomination with Respect to Appointments/Dismissals of Senior Management and Nominations of Candidates for Directors by the Board of Directors]

The reasons for the appointment/dismissal of each senior management and nomination of each candidate for director are explained in notices of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

[Supplementary Principle 4.1.1 Summary of Scope of Matters Delegated from the Board of Directors to the Management]

The Board of Directors endeavors to fulfill its responsibilities to stakeholders through decision-making on the execution of important operations and the exercise of appropriate monitoring functions and strives to ensure the Company's sustainable growth and increases in corporate value over the medium to long term. Please refer to Article 4 Roles and Responsibilities of the Board of Directors of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 4.8 Effective Use of Independent Directors]

Please refer to Article 5 Board of Directors Composition of the Guidelines.

Four of the ten Kenedix directors are independent directors who meet the Kenedix independence criteria. More than one-third of the Kenedix directors are independent directors.

[Principle 4.9 Independence Criteria for Independent Directors]

The primary standards used for judging independence are the requirements for outside directors prescribed by the Companies Act and the independence criteria set by the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

Please refer to Article 9 Qualification for Directors and Nomination/Dismissal Procedures and Article 10 Qualification for Corporate Auditors and Nomination/Dismissal Procedures of the Guidelines for details.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.1 Position Concerning Composition of the Board of Directors]

The Company's Board of Directors is composed in consideration of diversity and balance of personnel necessary to conduct appropriate and swift decision-making and highly effective monitoring.

Please refer to Article 5 Board of Directors Composition, Article 8 Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committees, and Article 9 Qualification for Directors and Nomination/Dismissal Procedures of the Guidelines for details.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.2 Concurrent Posts Assumed by Directors and Corporate Auditors]

Information about concurrent posts of Kenedix directors and corporate auditors is in notices of the General Meeting of Shareholders and securities reports.

[Supplementary Principle 4.11.3 Analysis and Evaluation of Effectiveness of the Board of Directors as a whole]

To ensure its sustainable growth and increased corporate value over the medium to long term, the company analyzed and evaluated the effectiveness of the Board of Directors. The evaluation produced the following results and identified the following issues.

1. Method for evaluating effectiveness of the Board of Directors

All directors and corporate auditors were asked to answer questions about the effectiveness of the Board of Directors (its composition, quality and quantity of deliberations, performance of the Board of Directors' management oversight duties, operations of voluntary committees, and other subjects) for the meetings held between March 2017 and March 2018 and to complete a questionnaire in which individuals provide comments and explanations. Questionnaire responses were then used by the representative director, full-time directors, outside directors and corporate auditors for a discussion about the effectiveness of the Board of Directors. Information obtained was provided to the Board of Directors to evaluate its effectiveness.

2. Analysis and evaluation results

We have confirmed that discussions at meetings of the Board of Directors use the knowledge and experience of the directors and corporate auditors. The evaluation also shows that the directors and corporate auditors are properly fulfilling their roles and responsibilities concerning deliberations and decisions for specific agenda items and for the oversight of execution of important operations. Moreover, to improve the effectiveness of deliberations by the Board of Directors, outside directors and corporate auditors have received explanations prior to meetings of the Board of Directors since January 2017. These explanations include agenda items of the Board of Directors meetings as well as discussions of medium-term management plans, the operations of subsidiaries and other subjects. We have confirmed that these explanations are continuing to function as a method and opportunity for presenting this information.

Consequently, the conclusion of this evaluation is that the effectiveness of the Board of Directors has been ensured based on the judgement that the Board of Directors are properly and effectively performing its roles and functions.

3. Future issues concerning the Board of Directors

The Board of Directors needs to continue maintaining the corporate governance system that it has established. In addition, the Board of Directors needs to improve its operations and upgrade discussions and expand opportunities for discussions concerning important matters, including the long-term management issues and growth strategies of the entire Kenedix Group.

[Supplementary Principle 4.14.2 Training Policy for Directors]

The Company provides directors and corporate auditors in a timely manner with the necessary information, training and opportunities to acquire knowledge in order to fulfill their roles and responsibilities required at the Company.

Please refer to Article 13 Policies for Training Directors and Corporate Auditors of the Guidelines for details.

[Principle 5.1 Policy for Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders]

To promote dialogue with shareholders, the Company has a director in charge of IR and the Corporate Planning Department is designated as the department in charge of IR. The Company augments methods for dialogue by such means as holding briefings for institutional investors in Japan and overseas and for individual investors.

Please refer to Article 23 Policy for Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders of the Guidelines for details.

Mutual cooperation among internal audits, audits by corporate auditors, and accounting audits, and relationship with internal controls departments

When an audit discovers a significant item, the basic policy is for the corporate auditors and accounting auditors to hold a discussion about the matter in a timely manner.

On a regular basis, information is exchanged about the status of audits by the accounting auditors each quarter for the purpose of examining the suitability of auditing methods, results and other items.

Corporate auditors and accounting auditors audit subsidiaries, too. The basic policy is for corporate auditors to provide their opinions to accounting auditors when there is a matter that requires this action.

When the Internal Audit Department creates a proposal for a fiscal year internal audit plan, the opinions of the corporate auditors is obtained in advance and the status of these audits is then reported frequently.

The Internal Audit Department maintains relationships with internal control departments while exchanging opinions with the Board of Corporate Auditors, which includes outside corporate auditors, about the internal control system framework, the method used to perform audits and other subjects.

[Policy for Determination of Remuneration Amounts for Directors and Corporate Auditors]

Kenedix considers ensuring the ongoing presence of excellent human resources who can contribute to its sustainable growth and increases in corporate value to be an important management priority. From this perspective, Kenedix's basic policies regarding the remuneration of directors, etc. are to 1) reflect their level of contribution to sustainable growth and increases in corporate value, 2) appropriately reflect corporate and individual performance and 3) share with shareholders any share price fluctuation risk.

The frameworks of remuneration for directors and corporate auditors are as follows.

(i) Director remuneration

Kenedix positions the remuneration of directors (excluding outside directors) as a sound incentive for achieving its medium- to long-term vision. Accordingly, from the perspectives of fixed and variable compensation, the applicable performance period and cash and shares (common interest with shareholders), there are three types of compensation: 1) cash remuneration as base remuneration (fixed portion), 2) cash remuneration linked with short-term operating performance (variable portion) and 3) share compensation linked with medium-term operating performance (performance-linked share compensation). Remuneration (variable portion) for outside directors consists only of a fixed amount of cash remuneration as base remuneration, from the perspective of their role and independence.

(ii) Corporate auditor remuneration

From the perspective of their role and independence, remuneration for corporate auditors consists only of a fixed amount of cash remuneration as base remuneration set within the scope of remuneration resolved at the General Meeting of Shareholders.

[Remuneration for directors]

The total amount of remuneration for the ten directors who were in office in 2017 was ¥494 million. (These ten directors include two directors whose terms of office ended at the close of the 22nd General Meeting of Shareholders on March 29, 2017.)

[Executives with compensation of at least ¥100 million in 2017]

(Millions of yen)

| | | | Total amount of remunerations, etc., by category | | |

Note: Share compensation is the amount recognized as an expense in 2016. Individuals receive points based on achieving performance goals and other factors and a number of Kenedix shares based on those points is distributed to those individuals when they leave Kenedix.

[Supporting System for Outside Directors and/or Corporate Auditors]

Please refer to Article 12 Provision of Information to Independent Outside Directors and Independent Outside Corporate Auditors of the Guidelines.

Kenedix has submitted notices that all outside directors and outside corporate auditors are independent.

2. Matters on Functions of Business Execution, Auditing, Oversight, Nomination and Remuneration Decisions (Overview of Current Corporate Governance System)

Kenedix uses the “Company with a Board of Corporate Auditors” system as a corporation organization based on the Companies Act. The purpose is to combine the Board of Directors’ decision-making and monitoring functions with respect to operational execution with the audit authority of the Board of Corporate Auditors. In addition to this organizational format, to augment the Board of Directors monitoring function and ensure governance with a high degree of transparency and fairness, Kenedix has established nomination and remuneration advisory committees as voluntary committees. The majority of these committees’ members and their chairs are independent directors. Through these overlapping organizational formats, Kenedix has created a hybrid type of Board of Directors with the proper balance between decision-making and monitoring functions for operational execution and promotes sound corporate management that achieves both independence and autonomy.

The Board of Directors, which consists of ten directors including four independent directors, endeavors to fulfill its responsibilities to stakeholders through decision-making on the execution of important operations and the exercise of appropriate monitoring functions with the goals of ensuring Kenedix’s sustainable growth and increasing corporate value.

The Board of Corporate Auditors, which consists of four corporate auditors including two independent outside corporate auditors, ensures corporate soundness and fulfills its responsibilities to stakeholders by conducting independent and highly objective audits of the execution of duties by directors and the status of the internal control systems of Kenedix and its subsidiaries. In addition, the Board supports Kenedix’s sustainable growth and an increase in corporate value from the perspective of audits.

For roles and responsibilities of the Board of Directors, please refer to Article 4 of the Guidelines.

For roles and responsibilities of the Board of Corporate Auditors, please refer to Article 6 of the Guidelines.

For nomination and remuneration advisory committees, please refer to Article 8 of the Guidelines.

3. Reasons for Adoption of Current Corporate Governance System

Please refer to Article 3 The Company’s Approach to the Corporate Governance System of the Guidelines.

III. Implementation of Measures for Shareholders and Other Stakeholders

1. Measures to Vitalize the General Meeting of Shareholders and Smooth Exercise of Voting Rights

| | Supplementary Explanations |
|---|---|
| Early Notification of General Meeting of Shareholders | Notices of general meetings of shareholders are sent about three weeks prior to the meeting. The shareholders' meeting notice is posted on the websites of Kenedix and the Tokyo Stock Exchange about one week before notices are sent to shareholders. |
| Scheduling General Meetings of Shareholders Avoiding the Peak Day | Kenedix exercises care to avoid days with large numbers of general meetings of shareholders so that many shareholders can attend the meeting. |
| Allowing Electronic Exercise of Voting Rights | Shareholders are able to vote electronically. In addition, Kenedix participates in the Electronic Voting Platform. |
| Participation in Electronic Voting Platform | As explained above, Kenedix participates in the Electronic Voting Platform. In addition, Kenedix holds information meetings and uses other activities to explain shareholder proposals and other items in meeting notices. This includes many visits and phone calls to institutional investors in Japan and other countries. |
| Providing Convocation Notice in English | An English-language shareholders' meeting notice is posted on the websites of the Electronic Voting Platform, the Tokyo Stock Exchange and Kenedix. |
| Other | Kenedix holds a business strategy briefing after the General Meeting of Shareholders. The purpose is to give shareholders, chiefly individuals, an opportunity for a dialogue with senior management. |

IV. Matters Related to the Internal Control System

1. Basic Views on Internal Control System and the Progress of System Development Updated

This section explains decisions at Kenedix concerning systems prescribed by the Ordinance of the Ministry of Justice that are needed for ensuring that directors exercise their duties in accordance with laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation and for ensuring that other activities are performed properly.

- (1) System for ensuring that the execution of duties by directors and employees complies with laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation
 - a) Compliance is a key element of management at Kenedix. There are a number of compliance rules and guidelines, such as a Compliance Manual and Corporate Ethics Policy, which serves as a code of conduct that requires all executives and employees to comply with laws and regulations, the Articles of Incorporation, and social standards for behavior.
 - b) Under the supervision of a director in charge of compliance and compliance officers, there are frequent compliance training programs at all departments conducted by the Compliance Department and the department managers to make everyone aware of the importance of compliance.
 - c) The Internal Audit Department works with compliance officers to perform internal compliance audits. The results are reported to the Board of Directors and the Board of Corporate Auditors.
 - d) Kenedix has a whistleblowing system to provide a direct channel for executives and employees to report activities that may violate laws and regulations and submit other reports.
- (2) Systems for storing and managing information concerning the execution of duties by directors
 - a) In accordance with document management rules, information about the execution of duties by directors is stored by using documents or electronic media and properly stored and managed.
 - b) These documents and electronic media shall be constantly available for inspection of all directors and corporate auditors.
- (3) Rules and other systems for the management of the risk of losses for Kenedix
 - a) Kenedix has the Risk Management Rules and designates the General Administration and Human Resources Department as the unit that is responsible for risk management. Risk factors are defined as potential problems that could be detrimental to corporate value with respect to business processes or be an impediment to the ability to achieve sustained growth. Department managers are responsible for risk management in their respective business units and are given the authority needed to establish and operate risk management systems, submit reports, and perform other duties.
 - b) Kenedix has Crisis Management Rules and Disaster Response Rules for natural disasters, incidents, accidents and other problems that have a major impact on business activities or society overall and are detrimental to corporate value. The General Administration and Human Resources Department is responsible for crisis management and disaster response activities. This department establishes an emergency response headquarters and takes other actions in order to respond to a crisis and overcome the associated problems.
 - c) The Internal Audit Department performs audits to confirm that risk management activities of the General Administration and Human Resources Department comply with the Risk Management Rules.
- (4) System for ensuring that directors perform their duties efficiently
 - a) The Board of Directors approves a management plan, reviews this plan every year and establishes performance targets and budgets for each business unit. In addition, the directors receive monthly performance reports and verify progress with respect to budgets in order to manage business operations efficiently.
 - b) In accordance with organizational rules, there is a framework for the proper and efficient operational execution of duties by the directors. In addition, Kenedix will use the corporate officer system for the purpose of strengthening the business execution function while speeding up decision-making involving management.

(5) System for ensuring that Kenedix Group business operations are performed properly

Kenedix has a compliance system and risk management system for the entire group. These systems reflect the business activities and scale of Kenedix and its subsidiaries and include the proper management of subsidiaries based on their characteristics as well as the importance of each subsidiary in relation to the entire Kenedix Group.

- a) To prevent violations of laws and regulations, the Articles of Incorporation, and other guidelines, the Kenedix Group has a system of internal controls for compliance with the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and other related laws and regulations.
- b) The Kenedix director in charge of compliance is also the group compliance officer in order to clarify responsibility regarding the establishment of internal controls at Kenedix and its subsidiaries.
- c) The Kenedix Internal Audit Department performs audits of Kenedix and its subsidiaries and submits audit reports to the appropriate managers of these companies and the department responsible for internal controls. The internal controls departments of subsidiaries then provide guidance and advice concerning internal control improvements as needed based on these reports.
- d) As a rule, Kenedix sends one or more directors or corporate auditors, or both, to subsidiaries. Furthermore, related company management rules designate a department responsible for risk management and compliance and, to maintain close ties with the goals of Kenedix, require that the operations of subsidiaries reflect the goals of Kenedix. Additionally, Kenedix monitors the management of subsidiaries, including the execution of duties by directors, and the status of compliance and asks for documents and other information as required.
- e) One or more subsidiaries may require special attention concerning its financial condition, including the risk of a loss, or other matters. In this case, the Corporate Planning Department is responsible for asking subsidiaries to perform risk management as well as for the comprehensive and centralized oversight of the Kenedix Group's overall risk exposure.
- f) Kenedix respects the autonomy and independence of the management of subsidiaries. At the same time, to facilitate the proper and efficient management of the Kenedix Group, a department responsible for risk management and compliance oversees the operations of subsidiaries depending on the each company's business activities, scale and other aspects of operations. This oversight includes lines of command, the delegation of authority, decision-making processes and other organizational items. For example, Kenedix may recommend that a subsidiary establish or not establish a board of directors, may recommend individuals for election as directors and corporate auditors and may introduce management targets as needed.
- g) Kenedix requires subsidiaries to establish a system to allocate an appropriate number of corporate auditors and compliance officers as well as a system that the Kenedix Internal Audit Department audits the execution of duties by the subsidiaries' directors, including the establishment and operation of a system of internal controls, depending on each company's business activities, scale and other aspects of operations.
- h) Kenedix makes suitable and effective use of IT systems for the purposes of exchanging information with subsidiaries and performing business activities.

(6) System for the assignment of employees to assist corporate auditors when requested, matters concerning independence of these employees from directors, and matters for ensuring the effectiveness of instructions to these employees from corporate auditors

- a) The corporate auditors can submit orders to employees of the Internal Audit Department for necessary matters to perform auditing activities.
- b) Employees who receive orders from a corporate auditor for necessary matters to perform auditing activities ("corporate auditor assistants") cannot receive instructions or orders from directors regarding the corporate auditor's orders.

- c) For evaluation and transfers of corporate auditor assistants, the director in charge of human resources must submit a report to the full-time corporate auditors and receive that auditors' consent.
 - d) Kenedix makes all executives and employees aware that corporate auditor assistants follow the orders and instructions of corporate auditors.
- (7) System for reports by directors and employees to corporate auditors, system for reports to the Kenedix corporate auditors by individuals who have received reports from subsidiary executives, employees and others, system to ensure no negative consequences for individuals who have submitted a report to a corporate auditor, and system for ensuring effective audits
- a) Directors and employees must promptly report to the corporate auditors the status of business operations each month as well as items which may have a significant effect on Kenedix or its subsidiaries performance, the results of internal audits, reports received through the whistleblowing system and other information.
 - b) Directors and employees must quickly and accurately respond to requests from the corporate auditors for reports concerning the operations of Kenedix and its subsidiaries.
 - c) The full-time corporate auditor and the Board of Corporate Auditors hold regular meetings with the president of Kenedix to exchange information for confirming the status of how business operations are performed and other items.
 - d) Executives and employees of subsidiaries must submit prompt and accurate reports when requested by a Kenedix corporate auditor for information about how business operations are performed. In addition, if there is a violation of a law or regulation or other event that may result in significant losses or other damage to Kenedix or its subsidiaries, this event must be reported immediately to the Kenedix department that oversees subsidiaries or to the Kenedix Internal Audit Department and Kenedix corporate auditors. The Kenedix whistleblowing system is also for the use of the executives and employees of subsidiaries. Results of investigations of information received through this whistleblowing system are reported to the Kenedix Board of Directors and Board of Corporate Auditors.
 - e) Kenedix prohibits any negative consequences for Kenedix Group executives and employees who have submitted a report to corporate auditors because the report was submitted. All group executives and employees are made aware of this rule.
- (8) Policy concerning prepayment or reimbursement procedure for expenses resulting from execution of duties by the corporate auditors and the treatment of other expenses or debt resulting from execution of duties by the corporate auditors
- When Kenedix receives a request from a corporate auditor for the prepayment of expenses or other form of expense payment involving the execution of that auditor's duties, the responsible department examine the request and promptly make the payment or process the debt. However, the request is rejected if the examination determines that the expense or debt was not required for that corporate auditor's duties. In addition, there are no budgetary limits on payments for expenses and other items resulting from the performance of duties by the corporate auditors.
- (9) Fundamental approach to eliminating anti-social forces and status of measures
- a) The Kenedix Group refuses to have any relationship at all with anti-social forces that are detrimental to social order and sound business activities. There is an organizational response to the anti-social forces in a unified manner by all executives and employees.
 - b) The Compliance Department is responsible for activities to block anti-social forces. Kenedix has a manual and performs training concerning this matter. Kenedix also provides information to subsidiaries, assists subsidiaries establish policies for dealing with anti-social forces and supports subsidiaries in other ways. The aim is to prevent any relationship with anti-social forces.
 - c) When an improper demand is received from an anti-social organization, the Kenedix individual responsible for preventing these requests takes the lead in working with the police, attorneys and other external parties for the purpose of firmly rejecting this demand.
