Canadian Solar Infrastructure Fund Rated “A-” by Japan Credit Rating Agency

Canadian Solar Infrastructure Fund, Inc. (the “Fund” or “CSIF”) hereby announces that the Fund received a long-term issuer rating from Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (“JCR”) today.

1. Summary of the Rating

Rating Agency	Rating Subject	Rating	Rating Outlook
JCR	Long-term Issuer Rating	A-	Stable

For a detailed coverage of the rating, please refer to the JCR announcement on <https://www.jcr.co.jp/en/>

2. Purpose of the Rating

CSIF regards the rating as an independent, objective assessment of the Fund’s strong credit quality, financial strength and predictable, stable business operations. The rating will provide enhanced managerial transparency and improved creditworthiness assessment for the Fund’s existing lenders. The rating will further enable the Fund to pursue broader financial institution relationships and to access diversified financing sources, including bond issuance, in the future.

With this “A-” rating, the Fund’s current unitholders and future investors will be able to access valuable information and evaluate market comparables to enhance their investment decisions.
