FY2019 Q3 Performance

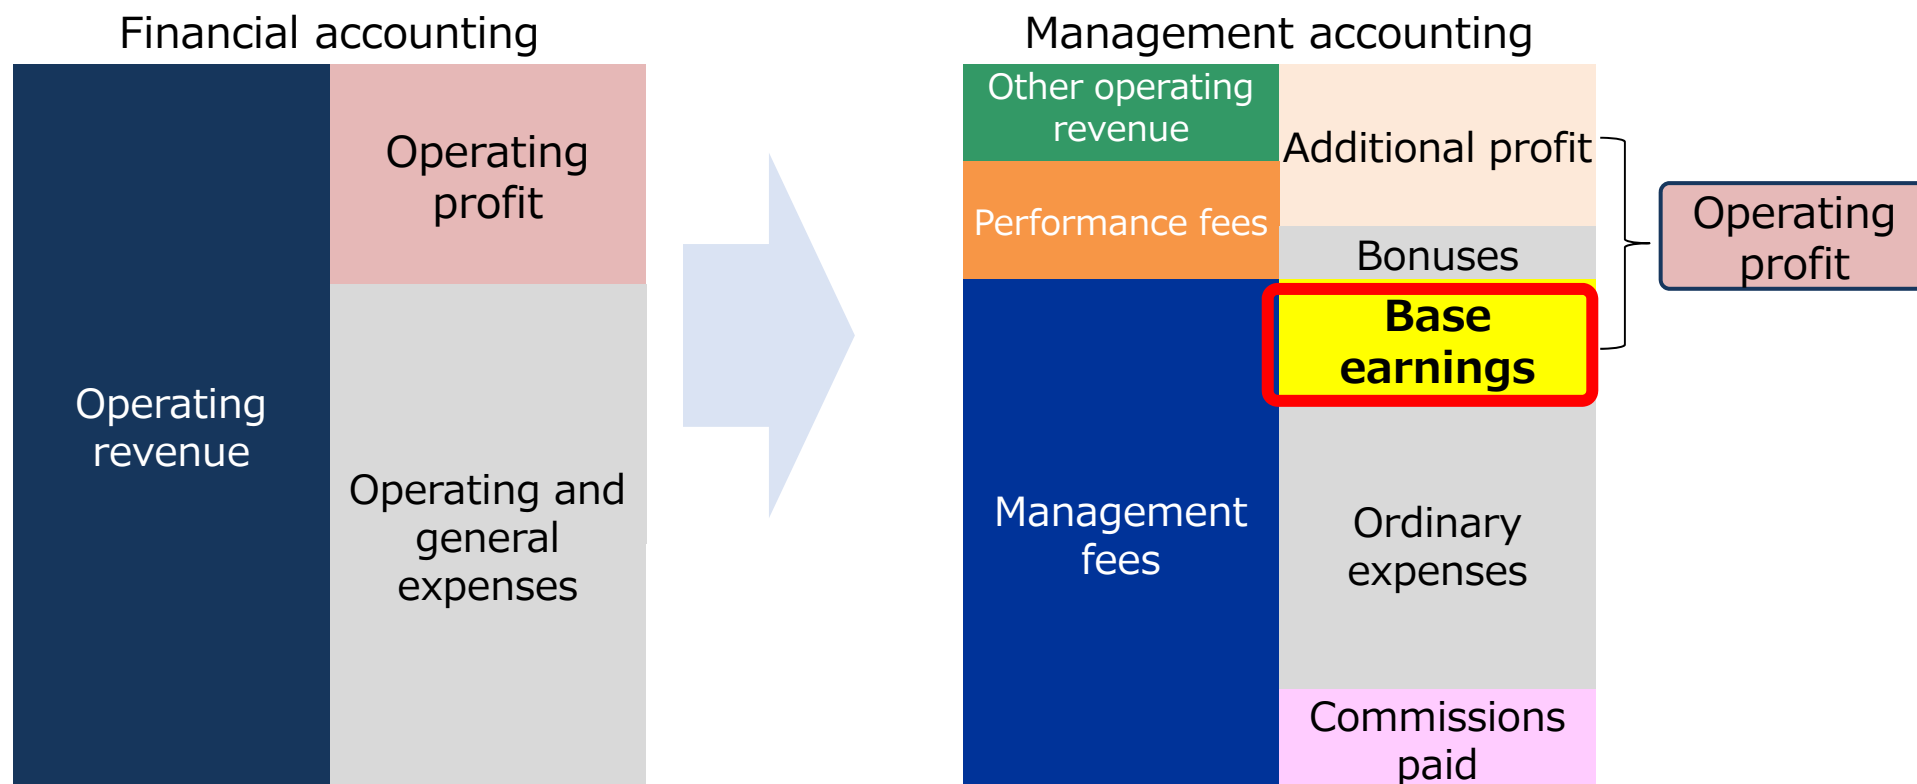

About This Earnings Presentation

This earnings presentation provides management accounting details not included in the consolidated statement. Note that, as shown in the following diagram, SPARX categorizes (1) management fees, (2) performance fees, and (3) other operating revenue, while (1) ordinary expenses, (2) commissions paid, and (3) bonuses are included in operating and general expenses.

SPARX Group has set base earnings as its overriding administrative index. Base earnings demonstrate whether a business has the earning capacity needed for a sustainable, stable foundation. We use the following formula to calculate base earnings:

$$\text{Base earnings} = (\text{Management fees} - \text{Commissions paid}) - \text{Ordinary expenses}$$
$$= \text{Management fees (after deducting commissions)} - \text{Ordinary expenses}$$

In financial accounting, operating profit includes one-time or additional performance fees, but these fees fluctuate considerably, according to trends in the stock market or business progress in real asset investments. Therefore, base earnings indicate genuine earning capacity.

(2) OneAsia Equity Investment Strategy (AUM of JPY63.4 billion as of December 31, 2019)

Sharing Investment Intelligence Continues to Lead to Results

Fund managers in Tokyo, South Korea, and Hong Kong share investment intelligence to bolster our investments in Asia.

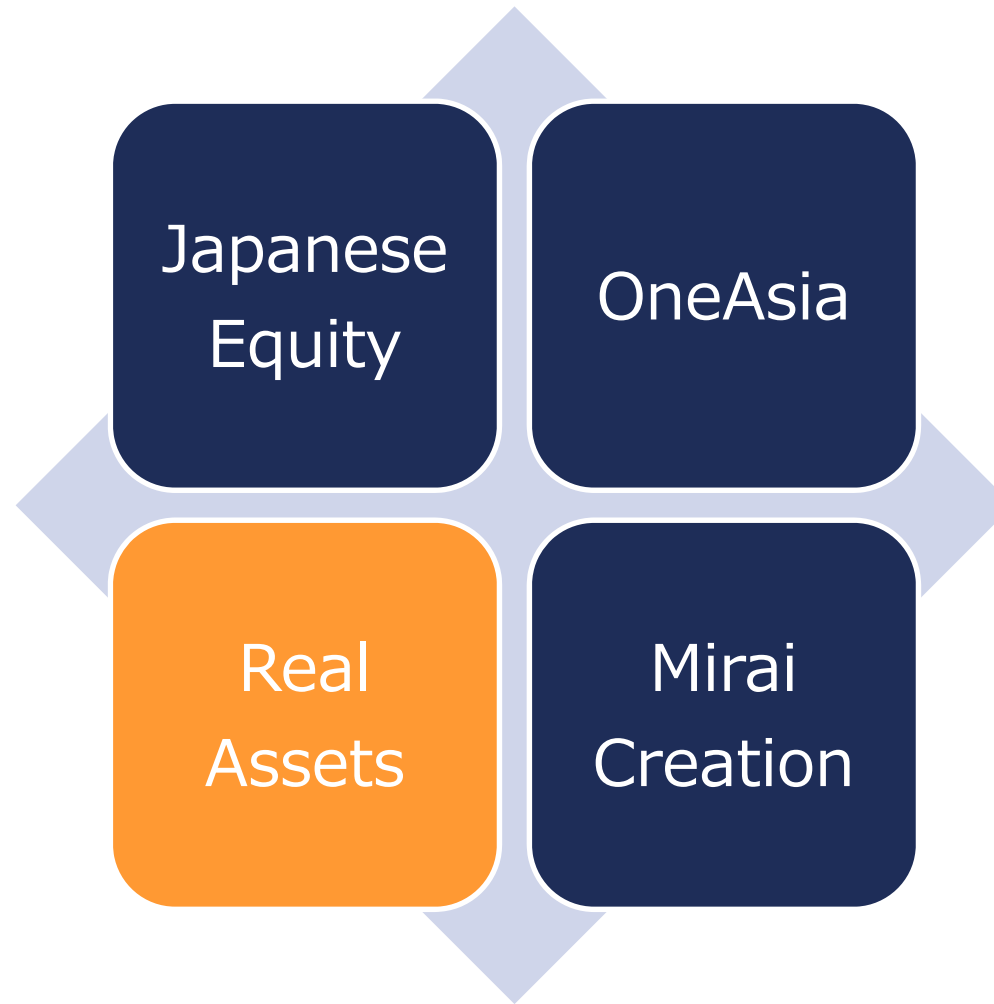

We develop products using ideas from fund managers in all our offices, and we work to create new funds.

Launched our publicly offered investment trust for listed companies in Japan and Asia and have gradually seen an influx of capital from Japanese investors.

Last December, we have received a new subscription from a major public institutional investor in Europe for a new Korean small and mid-cap fund. This is the result of our ongoing collaboration and sharing of investment intelligence across our offices.

By leveraging this success and having leading securities firms distribute more of our funds and working closely with overseas institutional investors, we intend to significantly increase the AUM for our OneAsia Equity Investment Strategy.

TCFD is..

the Climate Change Task Force (The FSB Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures) established by the Financial Stability Board (FSB), an international organization committed to stabilizing the financial system in 2016.

The TCFD recommends that corporations disclose information on the financial impact of climate change, and that corporations improve their business sustainability by uncovering any potential management issues that they could face, based on analyses of climate change scenarios.

SPARX Asset Management Co., Ltd. is registered with Japanese authorities to conduct an investment management business, an investment advisory and agency business, a Type-1 Financial Instruments business, and a Type-2 Financial Instruments business. This report includes statements related to investment trusts that SPARX Asset Management manages. Note the following points:

Notes on Investment Trusts

The following statements are presented in compliance with Article 37 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act. Note that their content may differ from the costs or risks that apply to the individual investment trusts that clients actually purchase. The costs and fees associated with the funds differ according to the marketing companies and the individual investment trust, so these statements express the maximum amounts for all fees that SPARX Asset Management collects for the investment trusts it manages. In the event that a party wishes to purchase a specific investment trust, we ask that the party makes his/her ultimate investment decision at his/her own discretion after reviewing the investment trust's prospectus, which is available immediately upon request.

About Risks Related to Investment Trusts

Investment trusts invest mainly in stocks, public bonds, and real estate investment securities of fluctuating value (assets in foreign currencies also include exchange risks), so their net asset values (NAV) will fluctuate. Therefore, the investment trusts do not guarantee returns on invested capital, and they may incur losses due to declines in NAVs, primarily attributable to transaction price and currency fluctuations in relevant markets, resulting in balances dropping below originally invested amounts. These management-caused losses wholly belong to all beneficiaries.

Specialized funds differ from diversified general investment trusts in that they manage a narrower scope of stocks. Thus, they are much more likely to experience NAV fluctuations, regardless of market trends.

Long-short strategy funds operate from a short position, meaning that when shorted stocks see share price growth, fund NAVs will fall. Moreover, situations in which both long and short positions incur losses significantly raise the possibility of loss to investors, compared to that for normal equity investment trusts.

These risks include only a portion of the risks related to investment trusts, and the details and nature of the risks differ according to the type of assets targeted, investment restrictions, transaction exchange, and countries targeted for each investment trust.

About Costs Related to Investment Trusts (Publicly Offered Investment Trusts)

The maximum expenses (fees) for SPARX's investment trusts (publicly offered investment trusts) are as follows:

- Direct costs

Fees at time of purchase:	Up to 3.85% (after tax)
---------------------------	-------------------------

Liquidation fees:	None
-------------------	------

Investment trust asset reserves:	Up to 0.5%
----------------------------------	------------

- Indirect costs during investment in investment trusts

Trust commission:	Up to 2.09% annually (after tax)
-------------------	----------------------------------

Performance commission (*):	Some investment trusts may require performance commissions.

*The amount of performance commissions varies per the NAV level, so it is not possible to indicate a maximum amount in advance.

Other costs and fees: Auditing costs; sales commissions generated by composite marketable securities (including funds) transactions, which include costs for creating prospectuses or investment reports; costs required for futures or options transactions; and custodial costs for assets in foreign currencies. When composite marketable securities are funds, they may charge for other expenses, including fiduciary trust company and custodial firm fees. These fees vary per management conditions, so it is not possible to indicate their maximum amounts in advance.

The total cost of fees differs according to the period of ownership, so these fees cannot be shown.

They also differ according to investment trust, so contact your dealer for more details.
